Re: MUR 7341 – John-Michael Allaire

Dear Mr. Jordan:

I am writing to respond to the allegations made against me in MUR 7341.

My older brother, Philip Law, ran for Congress in 2016. This was very exciting for me. I volunteered on my brother's campaign from the very beginning. I also contributed $2,700 to my brother's campaign. The complaint alleges that I did not have sufficient personal funds to make the contribution because I was a college student at the time. This allegation is incorrect. I made the contribution from my personal funds in my checking account. At the time, my personal funds in my checking account primarily consisted of an allowance from my parents. My parents did not control the funds in my checking account, and I decided how to spend my personal funds. I made the decision to contribute to my brother's campaign. I was not reimbursed or given funds by my parents or anyone else to contribute to my brother's campaign.

Sincerely,

John-Michael Allaire
